2015 PINOT NOIR

WITH WATER COMES LIFE.

TINGA is what the native people of Chile called the loud river which brought life to their land. Today, water from the TINGAuiriricA River runs through our sustainably farmed vineyards and nourishes specifically selected vines to create our Block Selection Reserve Wines.

NOTES FROM THE WINEMAKER— OSCAR SALAS STEINLEN

A seductive light-bodied garnet color. On the nose, fresh red apples with hints of sweet almond. It has smooth tannins with bright acidity and a fruity finish.

LIMARI VALLEY, CHILE

The 2015 harvest began and finished on time in mid-March. During this dry hot harvest, there was a 12 hour rain which hasn't happened in the Atacama desert in centuries. Typically rain is unwelcomed, but for Limari this was a blessing in disguise. Pinot Noir flourished and harvest, allowed for fresher and brighter wines.
